TEXT:

A new Internet site called Priceline .Com (www. price line.com) offers a new way for consumers to get the flights they want for the fares they are willing to pay. Priceline .Com lets consumers specify the route they want to fly and the maximum amount they would pay for a ticket by providing a credit-card number. Priceline .Com will check with its participating airlines to see if any are offering flights that correspond to the requested route and fare. (According to Priceline .Com founder Jay Walker, the company has "solid agreements with all major carriers , but several--including Continental and United --say they are not participating .) If Priceline .Com finds a match , it will immediately buy a ticket for the consumer.

AB- <NV> NOVELTY - An airline fair market share module (12) calculates an incremental travel time for each flight serving a given city pair and determines airline fair market share data for each airline in relation to each city pair. A scenario market-share module (14) receives non-schedule-based factors, and determines scenario market-share data (15) for each airline in relation to each city pair of the predefined city pairs.|

AB- <BASIC> DETAILED DESCRIPTION - INDEPENDENT CLAIMS are included for:

(a) a computer implemented method for determining a fair market share for a given airline in relation to a given city pair

(b) a method for defining an airline pricing agreement between an airline customer and a given airline

USE - For analyzing airline flight information in accordance with one or more specified scenarios of preferred airline suppliers, for determining the economic value of a particular scenario to an airline customer and improving a travel manager's ability to negotiate airline pricing agreements with an airline supplier.

ADVANTAGE - Associates complex sets of information necessary for assessing the economic value of a group of airline supplier scenarios, analyzing this information for each scenario and generating quantitative information relating to the expected costs of traveling in accordance with each scenario's parameters. Provides a software tool for rapidly and rigorously calculating the economic value of an airline's current or proposed price agreement, the amount of hours spent traveling for each scenario and allow the user to take the value of this time into account when choosing a set of preferred airlines.

DESCRIPTION OF DRAWING(S) - The drawing shows an overview of an airline travel supplier evaluation system in accordance with the present invention.
